Product Description

Segesta small armchairs enclose without being cumbersome, with generous armrests created from the design of the backrest. With smooth, flowing curves, the selinunte chair is ergonomic and practical. The shell is made of technopolymer, the structure is made of steel. Its shape and functions are appropriate for prestigious indoor and outdoor environments. The pure, defined shape of this chair, lightened by an opening in the backrest, is not only an attractive feature but a simple solution suitable for different functional requirements. Thanks to different structures, segesta is a stacking chair, or office chair on castors, armchair or rocking chair. The seats of selinunte chairs are made from technopolymer, and as per the segesta armchairs, rest both on cross base, in polished fitted with a self-aligning piston and a base comprised a polished star support and legs in natural oak or oak-stained ebony. The selinunte is available in a current and comfortable stool version too. Segesta and selinunte chairs, in brushed stainless steel version, add practicality and identity to the outdoor landscape, by adorning gardens and terraces with simple shapes yet refined details. Segesta tables are functional and available in different heights, with a quadrangular top in white polymeric material ® Plexicor Degussa ®.
